

704 Southwest 10th Street
Blue Springs, MO 64015
United States

T 816•229•3405 or 800 YES FIKE
F 816•228•9277
www.fike.com

Brad Batz

President & CEO
Fike Corporation

As President & CEO of Fike Corporation, Brad is charged with leading the strategy and direction of the company. Recently, he developed an aggressive plan for restructuring the company to improve its efficiencies and create a more energized, motivated and synergistic internal culture, all while better serving Fike customers and markets around the world.

Vision for the Future

"I want to create an environment that not only serves the purpose of our company for our customers, but that also becomes an environment of creativity where our associates can reach their own dreams and personal, financial or career goals," Batz explained. "I also want to make sure that Fike exists for the next generation for our family and employees to carry on our work."

Professional Associations

University of Missouri-Kansas City (UMKC) Advisory Council for the Bloch School of Business

Board Member & Advisory Group Participant for the University of Kansas (KU) School of Business in conjunction with the U.S. Army Command and General Staff College (CGSC) at Fort Leavenworth, regarding Supply Chain Management & Logistics

Education

Bachelor of Science in Business Administration from the University of Florida
Also studied Lean Operations at Cardiff University in Wales

About Fike

Fike Corporation is a globally recognized supplier of precision-engineered solutions for fire protection, explosion protection, overpressure protection and pressure activation. Because so much is at stake', since 1945 our highly skilled workforce has designed and built solutions for Fortune 500 companies and businesses around the world that want peace of mind from experiencing consequences of serious financial loss or a devastating disaster.